■ Progress and problems

Ten acre well spacings concern Town Council

The possibility of oil wells located on a reduced spacing grid within a short distance of the Town limits is giving Elk Point Town Council some concern. Union Pacific Resources has approached the Town regarding the reduced spacing, but Council is not sure if they should give approval to the move.

The Town's consent is not needed for UPR to make an application for reduced spacing to the Alberta Energy and Utilities Board but the Town's legal advisors say that it would be to the company's advantage to have the Town's support.

Council questioned how the increased number of wells close to town would affect the community's emergency services. The proposed area of reduced spacing stretches east of town and would also impact Elk Point's airport, especially if wells were to be drilled in the landing strip's approach area. Council considered asking UPR to hold public meetings where the residents could voice concerns over the reduced spacing.

Despite their misgivings, Council feels they should look at the advantages to be gained from more oil activity, and Mayor Ed Buck emphasized they "do not want to stop progress. We want to be aware of it, and be a part of it." It was suggested that one advantage could be financial assistance to help cope with increased costs of services resulting from increased activity in the area.

Auditor Barb Mc Carthy visited Council's April meeting to give Council a run-down on the 1999 financial statement, which showed that despite considerable improvements to the town's streets and sidewalks last year, they managed to end the year with a small surplus. Ample reserves helped to pay for the much needed repairs and replacements. McCarthy's firm has been reappointed for another year as the Town's auditor.

The Town's firefighting agreement with the County of St. Paul was back on the table again, and this time Council came up with a counter-proposal. Rather than agreeing to a flat retainer fee for firefighting services in the rural area, the Town would prefer to stay with the original agreement where they are paid per call attended, with the addition of more rent for the increased space the County needs in the fire hall. The Town also wants to suggest that they and the County start setting $10,000 each aside each year toward replacement of the crash unit in a few short years. Council also agreed they will have to establish a reserve fund for replacement of the Town's fire truck.

The County of St. Paul Landfill Agreement was tabled again, but Council didn't totally ignore the waste disposal situation, and gave approval to a draft agreement with Evergreen Regional Waste Management. Several potential sites for the new regional landfill are currently being tested.

Space will not be needed in either the current or future landfill for one type of household container. Milk jugs will soon join the items which we can recycle right here in Elk Point, with the local bottle depot operator authorized as an official collector.

Benches for strolling seniors will soon be a reality. Council approved the installation of benches near the Further Education building and along 52 Avenue in Markstad Park for

Minor Hockey celebrates a great year

George Hahn named Coach of the Year

COACH OF THE YEAR George Hahn (right) is congratulated by Doug Bassett on his award winning efforts, first with the Midget Thunder and then with the Pee wee Girls Cyclones, who have come a long way in the three years since he got the team together for the first time.

While millions across the land watched as Hogtown's Heroes hammered the Nation's capital 5 to 1 on Saturday night, this is still an Oil town, and Minor Hockey still gets top billing in Elk Point.

By Doug Bassett
Review Sports

The minor hockey season may be over, but the enthusiasm is still there, as witnessed by the excellent turnout this past Saturday night at the annual spring hockey windup banquet, which was attended by a great number of parents, grandparents and siblings.

A big hand for Susan MacKinnon for organizing the event and to her helper, Gillian Cousins. After the potluck supper, the program started with the recognition of Marlane Tucker and Elaine Babenek for their five years as volunteer treasurer and secretary, two jobs that take a lot of time, and not only during the hockey season. Then it was James Babenek's turn on stage where he was presented with a jacket from Elk Point Minor Hockey where he was presented with a jacket from Elk Point Minor Hockey for his volunteer work as referee-in-chief.

After that, Micro Novice Tornados, with Geoff Bishop, the coach, on the microphone telling the crowd he had 17 players this year, lost only two games all year and won three games in the Timbits Tournament in Sherwood Park. Tornado players Harrison Maas and Mike Marianchuk were celebrities this past week, holding the Stanley Cup on the front page of the St. Paul Journal and in the Edmonton Sun.

Next up, Gary Marцениuk and his Novice Hurricanes, who had a good season and won their own tournament. One of his players, Chevy Botting, went for a tryout and made an Edmonton summer hockey team. Chevy will be playing hockey this summer on an elite AAA team.

Then the Atom Avalanche with Darrell Wickham who stated "we only had ten players this year but still managed to have a heck of a year." He also gave thanks to all his helpers.

CRIME STOPPERS

Another rural break-in reported

By Cst. Simon Cote
Elk Point RCMP

■ Sometime between 7:00 p.m. and 10:00 p.m. on April 6, 2000 unknown culprit(s) entered a residence located on Moosehills Road and stole a valuable coin collection. Nothing else was taken from the residence. Culprit(s) may have been disturbed during the commission of the offense since other valuable items were left behind. This break and enter could be related to another one committed earlier that same day near Spring Park Hall.

■ Sometime between 8:00 p.m. on April 7 and 3:00 a.m. on April 8, 2000 unknown culprit(s) entered the Elks Hall during a private party and left with four leather jackets and one nylon jacket and their contents.

Anyone with information regarding either of the above incidents is asked to call Crime Stoppers at 1-800-222-TIPS (8477) or the Elk Point RCMP Detachment.

Crime Stoppers will pay up to $2000 for information leading to the arrest of the person(s) responsible for these or any other crime. Your do not have to reveal your identity and if your tip leads to an arrest you qualify for an award.

Angle parkers urged to comply with the law

By Sgt. Lyle Marianchuk
Elk Point RCMP Detachment

Elk Point R.C.M.P. wish to remind the citizens of Elk Point and surrounding areas that it is illegal to cross the centre of a road to park on the other side.

Numerous complaints of this nature have been received, in particular, in front of the new Elk Point Post Office where vehicles are approaching northbound, turn west and go across the road to angle park in front of the post office.

This is an illegal maneuver and is subject to a $86 fine and two demerit points. As well, given the increased traffic and parking in this area, please be reminded that vehicles traveling south or northbound on that street have the right of way over those vehicles angle parked and attempting to back up. Vehicles backing into traffic unsafely are subject to a $57 fine and two demerits. Increased patrols of the area will begin and offenders will be ticketed.

NOW 85 LOCATIONS ACROSS NORTH AMERICA!

from the FCSS DESK

Some changes are happening in our town

By Deanna Easthope
FCSS Director

Have you noticed all the changes in our town over the last month or so? Your first thought would probably be, why, the snow is mostly gone. Spring is settling in with the birth of new animals and buds on the trees.

Besides the change in our weather, what else have you noticed? Why, the Post Office moved, within the same block but around the corner, you say. Yes, that is right. Are you used to this new location yet? If you are adjusted to the location and parking your car differently in front of the post office, you may be troubled by entering the post office from the left and going to the front desk on the left. Why, in the old post office, we parallel parked in front of the post office, and once we picked up our mail straight in front of the door, we then turned to the right to go to see the post office staff. Now... with the new post office, we have to angle park and enter the post office on the left, see the post office staff on the left and go to the right to pick up our mail. Boy, oh boy, when they moved the post office to a new location, they changed everything!

Speaking of the post office, I found this cute story that is on the lighter side.

"A letter written in a child's hand arrived at the post office, addressed to God. Not knowing exactly what to do, a postal employee opened the letter. It read:

"Dear God:

My name is Johnny. I'm six years old. My mom is having a hard time raising me and my little sister. Would you please send $600 for rent money."

The postie was touched. He showed the letter to his fellow workers and they all decided to kick in some money. They were able to raise $400 which they sent to the return address.

A couple of weeks later they received another letter, in the same handwriting. The boy thanked God for the money but ended the letter with this request:

"Next time, God, would you please send the money directly to our home? If you send it through the post office, they deduct $200."

I enjoyed that post office story which I found in the ACA News. It shows how post office employees do have kind hearts that may be sometimes misinterpreted.

Yes, the major change in our town has been the move of the post office and in time, I am sure we will all be adjusted.

High marks and medals for Metelytsia Ukrainian Dance Club

By Cindy Casper
Review Contributor

The Elk Point Metelytsia Ukrainian Dance Club represented the club and the Elk Point community well in North Battleford on the weekend. Twenty two dance clubs from Alberta and Saskatchewan attended the competitions which ran April 13 to 16. Twenty five dancers from Elk Point participated in the event.

On Friday evening, our Intermediate Girls (Cassandra Cochrane, Sage Lowry, Chelsea Schnurer and Trish Yarmuch) performed a Bukovynian dance to earn a gold medal and a mark of 87, and on Saturday, their Transcarpathian dance gave them a mark of 85 and a second gold medal.

Saturday was also a good day for the Senior and Junior groups. The Seniors (Addison Bartholomew, Jamine Brown, Eva Gusnowski, Kenna Hillebrand, Kirsty Lindquist, Travis Lindquist, Kristy Myshaniuk, Maureen Myshaniuk, Danielle Schnurer and Brandi Yarmuch) first performance, a Transcarpathian dance, earned them a mark of 83 and a silver medal. Later that evening, they performed a Bukovynian dance for a gold medal and a mark of 86.

The Junior group (Hailey Casper, Laryssa Cochrane, Ariel Kwasnycia, Dylan Kwasnycia, Andrea Lee, Brett Lindquist, Catherine Meyenberg, Jordyn Wozniak, Justyne Wozniak, Alison Young and Sara Zarowny) performed the Poltavski dance to earn a mark of 84 and a silver medal.

The final day of competitions was Sunday and the Seniors earned a mark of 85 and a gold medal for their Volyn dance and a silver medal for 84 in their Hopak. The Juniors brought home a gold medal and a mark of 86 for their Hutzul performance.

Congratulations to the dancers on their outstanding performances!

VOLUNTEER WEEK AT PARKVIEW saw the volunteers poring through albums and enjoying a scrapbook making session instructed by Becky Waltze, herself a Parkview volunteer. Over 65 volunteers, not counting local groups, help out at Parkview and are very much appreciated by staff and residents.

■ The Garden Path

Best of the bulbs for spring

By Lois Hole
Garden Expert

Is it a bulb or a tuber or a corm? Probably most of us apply these terms correctly to the corresponding plants but few of us get it right all of the time.

The catch-all term for plants that utilize some sort of underground storage organ is geophyte. But since geophyte is a rather ponderous term, and likely to draw a blank from nursery staff should you ask for the 'geophyte section', feel free, if you like, to yield to the masses and just call them all bulbs.

In most regions of Canada, excluding the west coast which is already miles ahead of the rest of us in terms of sprouting plants, fall planted bulbs like tulips are just beginning to pop out of the soil. And since their fate is by and large determined by the quality of bulbs that were planted last fall, it's just a matter of sitting back and enjoying their glorious blooms for weeks to come.

The emergence of the fall planted bulbs coincides quite nicely with the arrival of the tender bulbs in the nursery. And although it's not time to plant these yet, the selection dwindles fairly rapidly as the bulb aficionados scoop up the hot new varieties.

One of the most popular spring planted bulbs (corms, actually) are gladiolus with their spires of radiant flowers. There are essentially four categories of gladiolus; the standards, dwarfs, landscape and American hybrids. The American hybrids are perhaps the most spectacular, just because of their size. Often the spikes will reach nearly five and one half feet and most of the flowers tend to open simultaneously which is a wonderful trait for spectacular bouquets. I've found that the biggest flowered, tallest spiked glads invariably grow in the richest, deepest soils and areas that receive direct sunlight from dawn to dusk. A little shade shouldn't preclude you from growing American hybrids, but just be aware that they won't be quite as majestic as their full sun kin.

The Standards are not quite as tall as the American hybrids but I think that they are equal in beauty. Standard glads are usually about six or so inches shorter than the American hybrids but none the less, varieties in this category like 'Peach Parfait' and 'Blooming Orange' have flowers that are just as spectacular.

Landscape glads appeal to those of us who are truly enamoured with the gladiolus but hate the idea of having to stake the darn things. They are quite a bit smaller than either the standards or the Americans, attaining a height of about three and one half feet, but they have the strength to stand up without any support other than their own sturdy stems. I love the variety 'Florida' because of its sunny yellow petals blotched with red in the center.

And indeed, few others are as versatile. Tall dahlias are excellent for specimen plantings while the shorter varieties are terrific as bedding plants or as compact growers for containers. Dahlias continue to bloom over the entire summer and are also great as cut flowers.

This year, save at least one spot in your garden for dinner plate dahlias. The flower heads are absolutely massive! I have yet to grow one with flowers the same diameter as a dinner plate but I've grown many that are at least eight inches across. The key to successfully growing these plants is to give them a pinch of 20-20-20 fertilizer at each watering and, like the glads, lots of sunlight. The plants grow about three feet tall so plenty of space is a prerequisite.

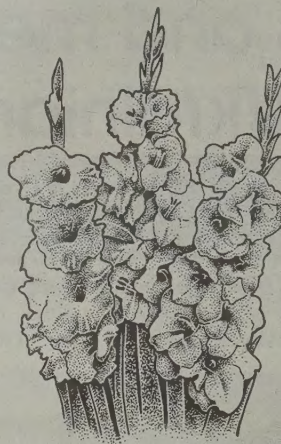

Two dinner plates that I really enjoy growing are 'Angel Face' and 'Yvonne'. Angel Face has flowers with bright red centres frosted with white tipped petals while Yvonne is rose highlighted with peach.

I'm really anxious to try a new series called the 'Super' Dinner Plate Dahlias. The plants grow to the same height as regular dinner plates, but the flowers are purported to be about two inches wider than the regular dinner plates.

Moving down the scale in size are the standard dahlias. Standards contain a number of sub categories or series with a remarkable range of forms and colors. For example, a series called waterline dahlias do indeed resemble those of pond water lilies and range in colors from white to pale lavender.

If dinner plates and standard dahlias are far too big for your yard, consider dahlias. These little dahlias seldom grow taller than a foot, yet are exceptionally floriferous and compact. They are clonally propagated meaning that they are not produced from seed. Rather, cuttings were taken from a superior mother plant variety and multiplied to produce identical offspring. What this means is that if you buy, say, a 'Royal Beauty' dahlietta tuber in Vancouver it will be genetically identical to a 'Royal Beauty' tuber in St. John's.

Regardless of the bulbs, tubers, corms or whatever geophyte you buy this spring, remember that the size of the storage structure is the greatest predictor of garden performance. Choose only the largest, blemish free bulbs from within each category. The secret to success does indeed lay buried beneath your feet.

Dwarf gladioli are the smallest of all the categories and wonderfully suited for those gardeners with limited space. They seldom grow taller than one foot, but their flowers are certainly equal in beauty to any of the other gladioli categories. There is one series of dwarfs that is a rather distinct departure from all of the others, and they are called orchid gladioli. The orchid name is derived from the orchid-like flowers on the gladiolus spikes. 'Prins Claus' is unquestionably my favorite variety because its flowers have the most striking similarity to those of true orchids. Each flower typically has four small petals splashed with red that are offset by two large pure white petals on the opposite side - truly a remarkable flower.

Along with the gladiolus few other plants have such a wide variety of colors, flower forms and height as the dahlia.

C.O.P.S. need help

Dear Residents of Elk Point,

Citizens On Patrol is a program being started by a group of volunteers in Elk Point. In light of the increase in break and enters and vandalism in our community, we hope to assist the RCMP by becoming extra eyes and ears for them. The program is being run successfully in other communities in Alberta. Through the program we hope to decrease the crime rate in our community and make it a better place to live. Members will be patrolling in pairs on random nights and reporting any suspicious activity to the RCMP. We will have expenses to cover such as gas, supplies and eventually signage on the outskirts of town. We are canvassing for donations and will provide a tax receipt. Since businesses are canvassed extensively for numerous donations I am asking the public at large to please donate to this worthwhile cause. Even small donations of $5 to $10 will go a long way. This is our community and your donation will help it be a safer and better place to live.

We could also use more volunteer members. We are not asking for a lot of your time. Shifts would only be one night a month every month or second month and you will be providing a great service to the community.

Our next meeting is Tuesday, April 18 at 7:00 p.m. at the United Church. If you are interested or just simply curious you are welcome to join us for coffee. Please direct any questions that you may have about this program to Sgt. Lyle Marianchuk at 724-3964. Donations will be gratefully accepted at the United Church or at Kuhn's Collectibles at 5213-50 Ave., or can be mailed to Box 783, Elk Point, AB, TOA 1A0.

Sincerely,
Thomas Kondla
Vice President, Elk Point C.O.P.S.

Multi achievements for 4-H Multi Club members

Elk Point 4-H Multi Club held their Craft, Woodworking, Photography and Food Achievement Day on Sunday, April 16 at F. G. Miller High School.

The club's first ever Demonstration Competition was a major focus of the afternoon, as four teams demonstrated the making of chocolates, talked about Alberta Beef, made peanut butter cups and concocted a fly repellent.

Judge Lee Wruth said this was a "weekend of firsts" for him. "I was judging birdhouses [at a 4-H judging workshop at Glendon] yesterday and demonstrations today." He cautioned demonstrators to "make sure people can see what you are doing," and to make their presentations long enough for the 8 to 10 minute requirements. Fellow judge Elaine Babenek agreed the participants "all did really well, they talked well." She gave a number of helpful tips on demonstrations that she had learned at the 4-H Leaders Conference, including picking an appropriate topic, having an interesting introduction and having one person talk while their partner demonstrates.

Crafters, woodworkers and photographers were judged by Olga Ockerman, Kim Reed and Jodi Vogel. Mrs. Reed said they were "impressed as always. There were so many neat projects. It's amazing what those kids did." Jodi Vogel added that she was "just speechless" about the woodworking.

Photography leader Calvin Leckie said his objectives for the year included "getting the girls away from taking just snapshots... to think about the pictures they are taking, the composition and the aesthetic quality," and he is happy with the results. He invited viewers to read some of the critiques. Photography members Michelle Leckie, Nichole Havener and Erin Bintz did of their work.

Claire Ference said the focus of the Crafts project was to make relatively inexpensive crafts. They came up with some "really neat crafts - I like the styrofoam boxes best." The boxes, covered with colorful cloth, were originally small styrofoam coolers, and shared the display tables with imaginatively decorated tin cans, brightly colored candleholders, and pottery items created during the club's visit to the Visual Arts Centre. Craft members are Erin Bintz, Marci Bintz, Leanne Ference, Janina Laboucane, Danielle Wruth, Trish Yarmuch and Michelle Zapesocki. Lana Wruth assisted with the group.

The club's Woodworkers also had a great display, including shelves, clocks, cutting boards and dovetailed boxes. Leader David Shankowski said it has been "an eventful winter" with "quite a few new and younger members. Therefore, our projects are a little bit simpler." He noted that one 4-Her botched her project, but started over and "in no time, had the project completed." The members were very well behaved, and did a very good job. He thanked helpers Jerry Shankowski and Lee Wruth for their assistance. Woodworking members are Janina Laboucane, Bryant Schnurer, Taryn Shankowski, Danielle Wruth, Derek Wruth, Adam Zapesocki, Amanda Zapesocki and Nicholas Zapesocki.

Gail Havener proudly introduced her Food group, Erin Bintz, Peter Danyluk, Nichole Havener, Janina Laboucane, Taryn Shankowski, Clayton Wruth, Danielle Wruth, Rhonda Wruth and Shawna Wruth, as they carried in the lunch for the afternoon. She said the Food project was really lucky in having the use of the Home Economics kitchen for their meetings. She and assistant Charlene Bintz led their members through the creation of a chicken supper, Italian food, Chinese food, barbecue, and an Easter dinner to which they invited the school's custodians.

Overall 4-H leader Lorraine Danyluk thanked all the project leaders for their efforts throughout the year.

DEMONSTRATION TEAMS - who took part in the Multi Club's first ever demonstration competition were Marci Bintz and Marvin Ockerman, Alberta Beef; Erin Bintz and Nichole Havener, Handmade Chocolates, Bryant Schnurer, Fly Repellant, and Leanne Ference and Taryn Shankowski, Peanut Butter Cups.

County books given a clean bill of health

Lower turnout at this year's annual meeting

By Rhonda Noyce
Staff Writer

The County of St. Paul No. 19 must be heading in the right direction because only about a third of the people showed up at this year's annual meeting on Tuesday compared to last year.

And most of this year's participants are regular faces at the annual meetings.

Aside from the general clarifications on the financial statements and some of the same old complaints, a couple of new concerns involved sewage disposal and railway lines.

Even though Alberta Environment isn't enforcing its law against dumping sewer waste on fields right now, County council knows it will happen eventually and they are already taking steps.

Councillor Walter Kaprowski said they are already setting up provisions at the new Mallaig lagoon and they are looking at building a lagoon in the eastern part of the county.

In regards to the abandonment of the railway line through the county, Reeve Robert Bouchard said they have expressed their interest in purchasing the track, but they will see what the public wants first when the official abandonment has taken place.

On the financial front, Deloitte and Touche Auditor Carolyn Graham told meeting participants that the County has a "clean" financial statement for the year ending 1999.

The County's equity is looking good with an accumulated surplus in physical assets sitting at just over $1 million. They have $79,000 in equity reserves and a consumable inventory of over $1 million (mainly in gravel) which shows up as a capital deficiency.

The County has a $35,000 net deficit in its operating fund over 1998 and 1999 which means they will have to recover this amount in 2000. In any three years, no municipality is allowed to run a deficit.

Taxes made up for 63.9 per cent of operating revenues in 1999 compared to 61.4 per cent in 1998. Graham said that tax revenues are increasing because grants are decreasing.

Linear property makes up for 47 per cent of the taxes throughout the county. Farmland comes in second at 20 per cent of taxes, residential is at 15 per cent, machinery and equipment at 14 per cent and the remaining four per cent is labeled as "other."

Most of the County's expenditures take place in transportation - 60.2 per cent of operating expenditures. Council and administration takes up 18.7 per cent, while utilities, protective services, agriculture, parks and recreation and FCSS each take up three to five per cent of the expenditures.

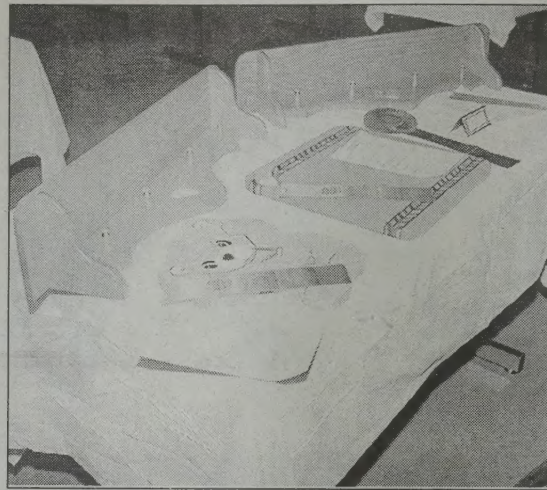

Contributions to capital increased quite dramatically in 1999 when the County bought out leases from Finning Ltd. for nine motorgraders and one loader. The purchase was funded by general revenues and a $750,000 capital loan which will be paid in 2000.

Bouchard said this leaves the County with lease commitments on three motor scrapers and one compactor for an outstanding balance of approximately $1,220,000 on these leases.

"County crews this (past) summer have improved local roads by 20 km of construction, 50 km of re-oiling and 250 km of graveling. The County maintains approximately 2,200 km of local roads," Bouchard said in his report.

MIXED CURLING WIND-UP - Curtis Porcina recently presented the Elk Point Mixed League trophies to Bryce Lorenson, Lisa Nickason, Lane Lorenson and Jenny McDonald, who won the league final over Jamie Gingrich, Susan MacKinnon, Gary Kulak and Marlene Malachowski as the curlers packed up their brooms for another season.

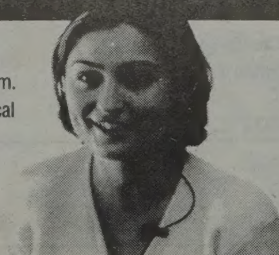

WONDERFUL WOODWORK was on display at the 4-H Multi Club Achievement Day this past Sunday. Projects such as these handsome shelves and intricately patterned breadboard were constructed by the Woodworking project members during their sessions with leader David Shankowski.

Elk Point 4-H Multi Club news

By Nichole Havener
Club Reporter

Here are the highlights of the February, March and April club activities:

February

February was a slower month for our club and we didn't do a lot of activities. The few were:

■ On February 5 the Northeast Regional 4-H Council held a judging workshop at the Vermilion College called "You Be The Judge." This seminar gave members the chance to learn how to judge different animals and articles, with both written and verbal explanations.

■ On February 16 the club held their general meeting at the F. G. Miller High School.

■ On February 27 an impromptu speaking workshop was held to help those members get ready for the actual 4-H speak-off.

March

A few more activities happened in March. They were:

■ On March 1 our club worked a bingo in St. Paul.

■ On March 5 the Public Speaking Competition took place at the Seniors' Centre. First place for seniors went to Michelle Leckie, second place to Mark Ference. First place for juniors went to John Sparks, second place to Colin Ference. The St. Paul and District public speaking was held at Goodridge, AB on March 12 where Michelle and John competed a second time. Although their speeches were well presented they did not place first in their divisions.

■ On March 11 the club had a great time bowling at the Parallel Lanes in St. Paul.

■ On March 17 the Western Canadian Judging Competition was held at the Vermilion College for all 4-H and university teams. Our team for this year was Erin Bintz, Michelle Leckie, Tara Babenek and Nichole Havener.

April

There are a lot of activities scheduled for April which will certainly keep our members busy. They are:

■ April 14 and 15, Spring Fling held at LaCorey for 12 and 13 year old members.

■ April 15 at 10:00 a.m. at Glendon Arena there will be a grooming demonstration in the morning, free lunch and a multi species judging clinic in the afternoon. A week or two following will be the carcass judging.

■ April 16 is the Craft, Food, Woodworking and Photography Achievement Day with demonstrations, to be held at the F. G. Miller High School, 12:30 p.m.

Everyone is welcome to come and check it out.

■ April 21 is a Mini Achievement Day for the Beef members at the Ag Arena.

Minor Hockey celebrates another excellent year

Peewee Girls Cyclones' coach George Hahn stressed the importance of finding enough Peewee age girls to keep the feeder system going in girls' hockey, as seven of the peewees will be moving up this coming season. He also thanked his assistants and parents. A very surprised Diane Proski was presented with the new Safety Trainers Award for her efforts on two teams and helping an out-of-town team on the bench during provincials.

Dave Cousins and the Peewee Avalanche couldn't ask for a better team or parents, and also gave thanks to his assistant Ted Genereux and manager Susan MacKinnon. The Alex Kurash Memorial Award for the most improved peewee went to Tyson Slywka.

The bantams Shawn Slywka and Kevin Moneta were playing in Dewberry this year for coach Buddy Bensmiller, and had a good season. Both were very coachable and improved throughout the season, going to provincials in Coronation. Although it wasn't mentioned at the banquet, we shouldn't forget George Danyluk, who played AAA bantam in Sherwood Park and four other bantams, Kyle Nielsen, Mark Letestu, Colton Hoffman and Melvin Easthope who won gold medals in A Provincials playing for St. Paul.

Midget Girls Storm were struggling all year with numbers, but finished the year in first place in the B side and cleaned up in the skills competition, which stems from the excellent coaching the girls received from Jacques deMoissac. Team manager Gillian Cousins mentioned how much the Peewees have helped the Storm, and the future of this team is looking great. It was the last year for Jena Bassett and Taralee Babenek, who were presented with gifts. A special thanks went to Sue Campbell for being the provincials chairperson.

Midget Thunder's Ron Croteau silenced the crowd when he gave a solemn speech on how important it is to stay involved with the Elk Point system. There were 24 players in Atoms when he coached them, and now only five of them are left in the system, the rest are gone elsewhere. Ron also recapped the season. The Thunder had tough competition this year in the tier one of the North East League and finished with nine wins, 20 losses and two ties but won the B side of their league, defeating Mallaig in the end. Plaques were presented for ten years of dedicated service to the Elk Point Minor Hockey Association, to Peter Danyluk, Dustin Yaremkevich, Darcy Stafford, Travis Brown and Jon Yake.

Then it was time for the grand finale, the biggest award of the night, for the Coach of the Year, going to George Hahn. George kept the Midget Thunder from folding in the 1994/95 season, taking over as coach although he didn't have a son on the team, after coach Ron Dunlop was transferred. He is now coaching his daughter's team in his third season with the Peewee Girls Cyclones, a team that started with nothing and have now learned many hockey skills, including fair play and respect for officials and other players.

RETIRING FROM THE STORM - Doug Bassett presented plaques and gifts to Jena Bassett and Taralee Babenek, who are leaving the minor hockey system this year.

what's NEWS at the LIBRARY?

Thanks to those who keep our library operating

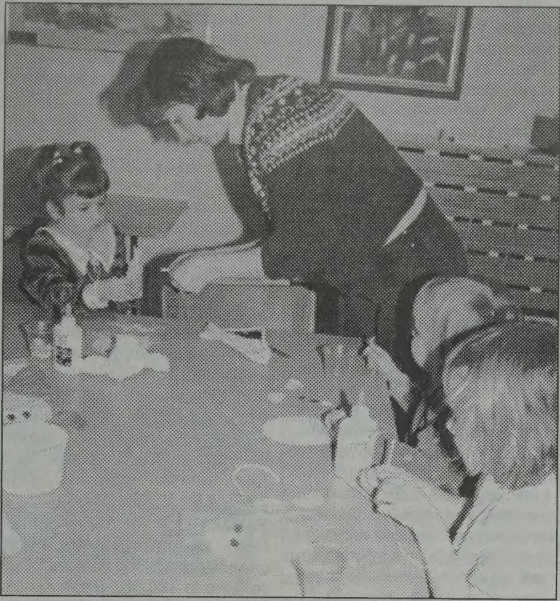

By Daphne Schnurer
Librarian

We definitely spoke too soon about that great spring weather. Don't get anxious to plant those bulbs yet. The library has been extremely busy this week, which is fabulous. It's a great place to relax and enjoy some great reading or listening material.

Important Note
I would like to extend a special thank you and congratulations on a super job to those volunteers who help keep our library operating. A huge thank you to the Friends of the Library who through their fundraising efforts make our programs and many great books available to our patrons. Both the Library Board and Friends are looking for assistance in keeping this great community effort continuing. If you can help, please give us a call.

New Books
A Dictionary of Philosophy by Anthony Flew... 17 Lies That Are Holding You Back And The Truth That Will Set You Free by Steve Chandler is a highly motivational book about self awareness. Mapping the Mind charts how human behavior and culture have been molded by the landscape of the brain. For our younger readers, the latest Pony Pals and also Sinbad from the tales of the thousand and one nights.

Library Calendar
Our Next Storytime - April 28 at 10:30 a.m.
Seniors Tea - May 2 at 1:00 p.m. we will be meeting at the library and then taking our tea on the road out to Meadowview Greenhouses.
Book Sale - June 3.

Elk Point and the world

By Jope Langejans
Elk Point United Church

With the floods and cyclones that have devastated areas of Mozambique, people's lives have not only been washed away but millions of survivors are left homeless and clinging to life with only a sliver of hope. Where does one turn when the basic staples of existence (food, potable water, medication, etc.) have been eradicated? Will the crying for help and the prayers for deliverance be answered? These are global issues

The United Church news

THIS SUNDAY, April 23: This is Easter Sunday and the lectionary readings are as follows: Acts 10: 34-43; Psalm 118: 1-2, 14-24; 1 Cor. 15: 1-11; John 20: 1-18 or Mark 16: 1-8. These readings concern the resurrection of Jesus on the third day after His execution by Crucifixion, His reappearance to His disciples and His rise to Heaven.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK: A quotation from St. Paul's letter to the Romans, "Those who live on the level of our lower nature have their nature formed by it, and that spells death; but those who live on the level of the spirit have the spiritual outlook and that is life and peace." Romans 8: 5-6 that jump out at us from our television sets, bark from our radios and inundate our newspapers and Internet connections. We can choose to be pacifists and pay no need to this destruction of land and life or we may enter into the community of concern with long distance yet immediate action. This is exactly what transpired in Elk Point on the evening of April 11.

Two weeks ago the Elk Point Review had published an article with reference to the Elk Point United Church Sunday School donating $300 to the Mozambique Flood Relief Fund. In conjunction with the Spring Supper, a silent auction took place with proceeds forwarded to Mission and Service, to be ear-marked for Mozambique. The evening ended with more than $1500 raised from the auction, and with the Sunday School monies put together, the generosity of this community is to be congratulated and celebrated. This was definitely a community effort and you can look at yourself in the mirror and smile, and say "hey, I am making a difference."

A big thank you goes out to everyone who made the dinner and auction a huge success, and I am honored to be in the presence of such a caring and sharing community. Shalom!

Happy Birthday Baba!
You're getting better looking with age, Babe.
From all your friends at Home Town Grocers, Footprints Restaurant & Family.

CARD OF THANKS

Thank You

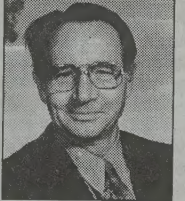

To all my friends who were so kind to me during my long hospital stay. Your cards, gifts, phone calls and visits were very much appreciated. At 94 I have a new hip and a great abundance of friends to enjoy life with. Now that I am back home in my Lodge room I am looking forward to visiting with all of you. Again my deepest heartfelt THANKS!

NEVA BEATTIE

IN MEMORIAM

Dmytrash, Stan

In loving memory of a father, son and gido who passed away on the 22nd of April, 1990.

Ten years ago today, God came and took you away.
We will never forget the sorrow or pain, and Dad; we will never be the same.
The many things you did for us, in your kind and loving way.
You gave us years of happiness, that no one can take away.
We often sit and talk of you, sweet things you did for us, day and day.
We laugh together, and cry to ourselves, we love you dad, in a very special way.
And if we could have one wish, a dream that could come true.
We wish with all our hearts, for yesterday and you.
Until we meet again Dad, your memories we treasure.
Our love for you will go on and on, and you will be in our hearts forever.
Sadly missed by your children and loved ones.

Floor hockey, badminton keep F. G. Miller Crusaders busy

By Leanne Wilson
Student Journalist

Hello from F. G. Miller High School. On April 6, the RCMP visited our school (for positive reasons). At noon hour, a floor hockey game was held with the RCMP up against the Grade 7, 8, 10 and 11 Crusaders. There were many spectators cheering as the players passed and shot. The RCMP with only one shift put up a good fight against the fast Crusaders. But our students battled their way to a 4-2 win with a hat trick from Paul Dustow. Thanks to the RCMP for their time and participation.

Still on the subject of sports, badminton season is now underway. The junior high badminton team, coached by Miss Cameron, had a great tournament at Glen Avon. Sarah Goulet battled her way to a gold medal, doubles Colton Hoffman and Kevin Moneta took home silver, while Mark Ference and Mark Letestu received bronze. In the mixed doubles, Tyrell Bintz and Leanne Ference got the bronze medals. Girls doubles partners Robin Schade and Brandi Breen captured bronze. Aaron West also won bronze. Congratulations.

Now from the gymnasium to the library. Special thanks to Ron Onusko and the Elk Point Historical Society for donating the book version of "Our Past," written by Steve Andrichak. It will definitely be a great resource for Alberta and Local History classes.

Feature Teacher:
This week the feature teacher is Mrs. Cheri Lindquist, F. G. Miller's CTS (Home Economics), CALM (Career and Life Management), and Health teacher. She is also a part time counselor and a member of the Administration Team.

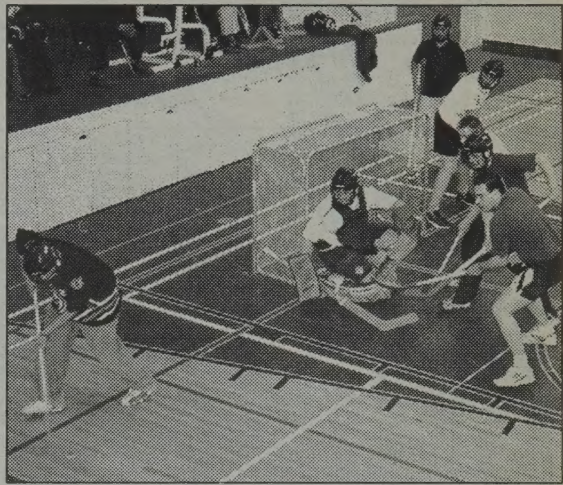

After graduating from Kate Andrew High School in Coaldale, Alberta, Mrs. Lindquist went on to the University of Alberta where she attained a Bachelor of Education, majoring in Home Economics and minoring in Social/Science. Mrs. Lindquist began working at F. G. Miller in 1979-80 as the Home Economics /Modern Living teacher.

She then left F. G. Miller and taught for three years at Stettler and two years at St. Albert. In 1989 she returned to F. G. Miller High as the CTS, Health and CALM teacher.

Mrs. Lindquist was part of the Sears Teen Fashion Council from 1973-74. For five years afterwards, she worked at the Sears Children's Department. She gained experience with farming by working on her family farm doing chores, tractor work, hoeing beets and moving sprinkler pipe. During university, Mrs. Lindquist taught high school kids who were four years younger than her, which she found a bit intimidating. But it was a good experience.

Some of the hobbies Mrs. Lindquist enjoys are reading, cross country skiing, camping, going for walks with her kids, and crafts. She became interested in Home Economics because her mom is a very good seamstress and encouraged her sister and her to do crafts at a very early age. One of Mrs. Lindquist's future plans is to write a textbook for Fashion Studies with information pertinent to her course content.

Mrs. Lindquist is a part of many extra-curricular activities including Parent Council, supervising at school dances, students' union, social committee, special events day and the Home Ec specialist council. She helps organize Friday Fun, Peer Support, Prom, Grad, Awards Night, pep rallies, Wellness Day, prizes for Crusader of the Week, fund raising, and Portfolio Workshop. In closing, Mrs. Lindquist would like to say "I have learned that nothing of value comes without effort."

RCMP DEFEND THEIR GOAL and resist calling for backup in their game against the Crusaders.
